BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1932.

FORTY-FIRST YEAR, No. 33

HEAD OF ST. STANISLAUS WELCOMED BY BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN

Of Bay St. Louis at Rotary Luncheon Wednesday Noon—Bro. William Speaks and Says College and Community Success Inseparable—Tribute to Character of Men Forming Rotary Club.

Bro. William, selected last week to succeed Bro. Peter, president of St. Stanislaus College, Bay St. Louis, was the guest of honor of the local business and professional men's Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon Wednesday noon at the Oriole headquarters of the club, to which there was a large attendance with quite a number of invited guests for this occasion.

President Bro. William, no stranger, having formerly been stationed here. Some dozen years or more he was also located locally as a member of the faculty teaching the graduating class and a number of young men here today remember him in pleasant retrospection. A number sat around the festal board of business men Wednesday.

Bro. William has a most engaging appearance and personality. Meet him once and you are charmed and impressed and never forgets him.

"You ask me to speak of St. Stanislaus College," he said, "and I have fifteen minutes to speak," addressing Dr. J. A. Evans, chairman of the program committee, "and if I speak in excess of that time limit I will thank you to call my attention."

"We are not elected nor assigned," he replied to the writer's inquiry as to which were correct, "but ordered and obey to the very letter."

During his address Bro. William said that St. Stanislaus College and Bay St. Louis were as a community success inseparable, for both represented the very best ideals, and that the college and faculty as part of the city were ever ready to answer any call that might be made. We are ready to work with and for the community.

"The men who are successes today," he said, "are those who were willing to make many sacrifices, to study and forego many pleasures. It is only the disciplined who attain those things best for which we strive hardest to attain. Nothing is worth while without endeavor and perseverance. There is too much laxity prevalent and too much seeking of pleasure. Discipline and application are the price of much that is fruitful and worthy of possession."

"Our faculty are all men of discipline. They make good citizens for the community and I dare say you have not a better lot of citizens than the personnel of the faculty, men who labor and strive in and out of season, who inculcate to the young the very best and whose character and methods are most exemplary."

"As to what are my plans and the future of St. Stanislaus college? Well, that is easily answered. I shall endeavor to carry out the policies of my immediate predecessor, Bro. Peter. They were broad and liberal and yet not diverting from the principles for which we stand and the established policies of our school. They have been tried, tested and not found wanting."

"Our college, your city high school and other public schools of the city are of the very best, of high standard, and it is my intention and I shall endeavor to so strive to help continue to keep them so."

An engaging speaker attempting at no oratory his fifteen minutes were all too short. But his hearers were satisfied. They had heard kindly and correct sentiments expressed and each and every one felt that it was not seeking too much to indulge in the hope that the club would at no distant date enjoy the honor and privilege of entertaining this distinguished and scholarly executive who is yet comparatively young.

St. Claire Church Fair and Festival Results To Be Announced

While all cash returns have not been accounted for and the net result not yet known, reports from Waveland are to the effect that the two-day fair and church festival for St. Claire's, Saturday and Sunday, 6 and 7th, exceeded expectations. The weather was ideal and every element and circumstance proved propitious. The various booths, attractively decorated, carried many things to sell and crowds from Waveland, Bay St. Louis and surrounding territory, willing to assist, made for a liberal patronage.

Mr. Ed. W. Carr, general chairman, and Miss M. J. Costello, secretary, are the ones who will announce the results of the fair.

BOUT FOR CHURCH IS PROMISING

Amateur Boxers to Appear At Stanislaus Gym This Friday Evening, August 12.

St. Stanislaus Gym will be the scene of much action Friday night when the pick of amateur boxers will compete in a Charity Card for the benefit of the church of Our Lady of the Gulf.

Tulane's standard will be supported by Sam Zemurray, Page Sharp, and Sam Ballard. Zemurray went to the finals in the National Collegiate Championship and was eligible to compete in the Olympic tryouts. Page Sharp was Tulane's runner-up in the Southern Collegiate Championships. Sharp alternates for Zemurray, so the fans can expect to see two of the best amateurs New Orleans can offer.

Jimmy Beason the Loyola star is Southern Amateur champion in the middleweight division. Jimmy is from Long Beach and is a graduate of Gulfport High School. This is the first time the middleweight championship fights on the coast and the boys from Gulfport and Biloxi are going to give him their support.

Jimmy Beason will meet Bill Raggio of the New Orleans Athletic Club, one of the best middleweights in New Orleans. These boys met in the Southern Amateur Bouts and were finalists. Beason won his title by knocking out Raggio in two rounds. This is a return match any club in New Orleans would be anxious to stage.

Edmond Blaize is rounding into shape and will be ready for the gong Friday night. Cameron has been working out at the Kiln, and will be in there with the old fighting spirit of the Kiln.

Sam Ballard has been in shape for some time, he has as his opponent, George di Benedetto, formerly of Stanislaus. This is a fast moving pair and when the fans see them in action they will get an idea of how "Gentleman Jim" Corbett fought in days gone by.

Maurice Aragues of New Orleans will take on J. Rhody of Stanislaus. Both have been working out at the gym and are in good condition. Curtis Matherne who was a great favorite at Stanislaus a year ago, will don the mitts again and try his science with Hugh Ryland. Curtis will be on the Stanislaus Boxing team this year as he has fully recovered from his operation.

Leslie Blaize will swing his mean left fist at Frank Fagan of Gulfport. Frank promises to return all such compliments with lagniappe.

Jimmy Filkins takes on "Pee Wee" Mauffray of Kiln. Those who saw Jimmy fight during the boxing season know well that Jimmy does his playing out in the yard and saves all his fighting for the ring. He says he will give "Pee Wee" a warm reception.

Mr. Vic. Lizana will be the third man in the ring. Vic has followed the game for many years, so we are lucky to have his services.

"Uncle Charlie" Breath and Grady Perkins will be the timers.

In one corner "Wop" Glover and "Baby-Grand" Scaife will be seconds. "Baby-Grand" will direct the defense, while "Wop" handles the offense. In the other corner, Bobby Camors (University of Michigan) and Tuga Glover will handle the fighters. Music will be furnished by the Municipal Band. Prof. Ramsay conducting. Refreshments will be served by the W. B. A. Ladies.

Junior Breath, the boxing coach of Stanislaus, and Brother Vincent will have charge of the program.

Place—St. Stanislaus Gym. Time—Friday night, 8 P. M. Event—Best Boxing card of the year.

HOTEL MEN ASKED TO WORK AGAINST DRY CANDIDATES

Resolution Cites Drinking in Rooms as Cause of Losses

Members of the Mississippi Hotel Association will not vote for any candidate for Congress or Senate who is opposed to the repeal of the 18th Amendment, if a resolution which has been prepared by Walter Read of Gulfport, chairman of the publicity committee, at the instance of the board of directors of the association is adopted by the association at its annual convention at Gulfport August 19.

Following are excerpts from the resolution:

"Whereas, we believe that attempts to enforce the 18th Amendment, while futile from the standpoint of government, have been disastrous to the hotel business, making it necessary for us to contend against drinking parties in our bedrooms instead of catering profitably to eating parties in our dining rooms, corrupting our employees, and otherwise ruining the discipline of our organization as well as depriving us of our legitimate profits which now go to speak easies and bootleggers;

"Whereas, question of repeal of 18th Amendment is to be decided by votes of congressmen and senators who elect to represent us in Congress of the United States;

"Whereas, he it resolved, that we will vote for no federal representative of senator who is not pledged to vote for repeal of the 18th Amendment and that we will use all the influence at our command to induce all of our employees, our guests and those with whom we transact business to vote only for persons pledged in advance to vote and work for the repeal of the 18th Amendment and restoration to the several states of power to decide the prohibition question as state issue."

BAY CITY PRIMARY OCTOBER 8

Democratic City Executive Committee Selects Dates For Bay St. Louis Elections.

Saturday, October 8 was selected as the date of the first primary election for Bay St. Louis and Saturday, October 15 for the second primary or run-off, at a meeting Tuesday evening of the Democratic City Executive Committee, composed of H. Wilbur Driver, chairman, Jesse Cowand and Chas. G. Moreau the latter secretary.

Thursday, September 8, was named as the dead line for which candidates may file their names with the secretary for the official Democratic nominating ballot to carry their names.

These dates were selected after consideration from every slant, in compliance with the law in the premises and in order to give the candidates ample time to make a campaign and yet not too long a period to burden the public. The days of long and tedious campaigns are passed, yet ample time must be given for aspirants for political preferment to present their claims and voters time to consider.

Regular election will take place on the first Tuesday in December. Election will be for one mayor and two commissioners, elected for terms of four years.

HANCOCK CO. BANK AT G'PORT

Well-Known Coast Bank Plans to Open Bank at Gulfport Monday, Says President.

Satisfied that the First National Bank of Gulfport would not be reorganized after many efforts had failed, President Leo W. Seal announced that the Hancock County Bank, serving the Mississippi Gulf Coast at several points, would open a bank at Gulfport, to occupy the building used by the original First National Bank on Thirteenth street.

"We plan to open Monday, ready for business," said Mr. Seal to a representative of The Echo, since, we have received report from Washington that the Comptroller of Currency at Washington had approved our leasing the building and under existing terms."

Mr. S. L. Engman, cashier, will be in charge and as many of the personnel of the Hancock County Bank at Long Beach would be employed including such extra help as would be necessary from Gulfport.

The Hancock County Bank enters the field at Gulfport after it was certain the local bank could not make a come-back and will open to give that city such banking facilities as it is so imperatively in need of since there has not been a bank there since Thanksgiving Day.

President Leo W. Seal gave the following out to the press a few days ago:

"Since the First National Bank in Gulfport suspended operations, we have had under consideration operating our institution in Gulfport, in the event the First National Bank should not be reorganized; but we carefully withheld any expression on the subject because we did not wish to intrude in any way while a proper solution of that bank's affairs was being debated by citizens of different and conflicting views. Now that it has been determined finally that the First National Bank will not be reorganized, but will be liquidated, we have no objection to its becoming known that we have decided to operate our institution in Gulfport so as to furnish the people of Gulfport and its trade area with badly needed banking facilities and service. In fact we are negotiating for quarters for our bank in Gulfport, to be located with a view of furnishing the most accessible and convenient service to the people. The lease for quarters has been prepared and forwarded to the office of the Comptroller of Currency at Washington for approval.

"Realizing the tremendous financial stress upon the people and upon business generally during the current depression, we do not ask as a condition to our operating that the people of Gulfport and its vicinity invest in our stock, furnish us with quarters, or make any other concession; our resources of two million dollars being immediately available and reasonably sufficient to meet all present requirements. However, we would naturally expect to have the wholehearted, constructive and genuinely sympathetic cooperation of Gulfport's people in our prosecution of this venture for our mutual benefit, and for the betterment of the entire coast. If we did not confidently expect this, we should not consider operating in Gulfport."

Hancock County Bank Has Resources of $1,687,659.66, referred to by Mr. Seal is the old First National Bank building at the corner of 13th street and 26th avenue, and the building is being renovated and placed in condition for use by the new banking institution.

The Hancock County Bank is operating three banks, one at Bay St. Louis, the home institution, one at Pass Christian and one at Long Beach. The last statement of the bank published in the Gulfport Herald July 18, as of business June 30, showed total resources of $1,887,359.69. Total deposits for the bank were $1,701,536.78.

Officers of the bank are: R. C. Engman, chairman of the board of directors; Leo W. Seal, president; Dr. A. B. Robertson, vice-president; S. L. Engman, cashier; Peter Tudury, Chas. J. Mitchell, and W. V. Robinson, assistant cashiers; Robert C. Engman, Dr. A. B. Robertson, Randolph J. Ladner, Carl Marshall, Emile J. Gex and Leo W. Seal directors.

BAN ON SERVING GAME AT EATING PLACES UPHELD

Mississippi Attorney-General Holds Act Constitutional.

That part of Mississippi's new Fish and Game Conservation Act, which prohibits public eating places from possessing or serving any game fish, birds or animals, has been declared constitutional by the office of Attorney-General Greek L. Rice, it was announced at Jackson by Hunter H. Kimball, director of the State Fish and Game Commission, which concluded its monthly meeting. Even game from other states cannot be served, the ruling pointed out.

In addition to laying down several rules and making some changes in the seasons, the commission formally received the opinion, written by Assistant Attorney-General W. W. Rice.

Practically all other states prevent public places from preparing or serving game fish, and their laws have been generally upheld by the courts, Rice said.

Kimball explained that "the perch and bass families" are, generally speaking, regarded as game fish though the act lists them by scientific name.

BOURGEOIS CANDIDATE ANNOUNCES

Local Business Man Candidate for Office City Commissioner Bay St. Louis

W. L. Bourgeois, pioneer grocery merchant of Bay St. Louis and well-known business man of this city, is formally announced in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo as a candidate for nomination for the office of commissioner, subject to the action of the Democratic primary Saturday, October 8.

Mr. Bourgeois announced his candidacy some two years since and ever since has been making a quiet but constant campaign, not wishing to precipitate the campaign and a long-drawn battle on the public.

When interviewed by a representative of The Echo, Mr. Bourgeois said:

"I am not unmindful of the great responsibility I shall assume if elected, but I feel that I know the need of my fellow citizens; that I understand their problems and that I am qualified to give to them a business administration of the municipal affairs, and to reduce the cost of City Government without the least impairing its efficiency."

"If elected I shall be my desire and purpose to be a servant of all the people and that my great ambition shall be to work for you and with you for a bigger and better Bay St. Louis, and give my entire time to the duties in an efficient, fair and courteous manner."

Mr. Bourgeois hardly needs an introduction to the voters of Bay St. Louis. A native of this section, he has been engaged in the business of mercantile pursuit all of his adult life, and as a citizen has ever been to the fore, always identified with every movement to better build and expand the city and for the amelioration of the people. No enterprise has ever been put forward without the name or co-operation of Mr. Bourgeois, always in some constructive manner. He is identified with a number of organizations of this city, never shirking to support the various projects for the betterment of things. And has never failed when called upon to do. He is truly an exemplary citizen. If elected, he is qualified both by experience and ability to administer to the duties of the office and should the voters choose to elect him there will be no cause to regret their action. In presenting Mr. Bourgeois' formal announcement The Echo asks the earnest consideration of the people for his candidacy.

Mr. Bourgeois is a native of Bay St. Louis and a former resident, but now living with her parents at Holly Springs. Miss McDonald is a grand daughter of Mr. W. A. McDonald, of this city. Her numerous local friends and those of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will read of the foregoing with interest.

CITIZEN TELLS OF JOURNEY

By Air Route From New Orleans to Chicago to Local Business Men's Luncheon Club

Called upon to say something of his recent trip to Chicago by airplane from New Orleans recently, Rev. A. J. Gmelch, member of local Rotary Club, was invited to tell the members something of his trip by airway at the regular luncheon-meeting Wednesday, to which he readily assented, even though not prepared to do so.

"This was not my first airplane flight," said the popular and public-spirited local pastor of the Catholic church. "My first trip was from Omaha to Chicago, but I shall not tell of that, but rather of my more recent exploit with traveling by air, rather than by rail or terre firma."

"We left New Orleans approximately at 9 o'clock and before 5 were in Chicago, stopping at three different points on the way to refuel. The plane carried some eight passengers and meals were served aboard. After flying across Lake Pontchartrain we were soon soaring over the State of Mississippi. Railroads were plainly discernable and the contour of the Mississippi river was never lost sight of. In central and north Mississippi the soil seemed to run in circuitous lines, however, we soon realized that this was caused by the number of tributary rivers to the Mississippi, principally the Yazoo and Sunflower rivers. At one time we were flying above the clouds with nothing but the great open space between the plane and the canopy of blue above. It was beautiful, but a somewhat strange sensation as one did not know where he was, at times we would cut through the vapor-like clouds with nothing else in sight."

"The cost," Father Gmelch said, "is only slightly more than railroad fare, costing 3 1/2 cents per mile. Considering that one saves time and the cost of a Pullman and a berth it is the cheapest way of traveling in the last analysis, with no dust, soot, cinders or smoke and practically no stops for so long a journey."

"On entering one registers," he said, "his name, age, family connection, living address and telephone number, the latter bringing one to a sense of ultra realization that is an extraordinary precaution and suggestive of anything but for one's safety."

At this juncture Father Gmelch was interrupted by one facetiously-inclined Rotary member, with—"And, Father, did they ask you the name of your favorite flowers?" This was the climax and soon brought the narrative in tabloid form to a close, but none the least a talk of interest, and the Father of the church told of his trip as one who generally enjoyed it and absorbed every element and incident of the journey.

Father Gmelch says the buildings for the '33 Chicago exposition along the Lake Front are far advanced in the finished state, and there are already busses which take visitors over a regularly-designated route to view the wonders of the exposition city that has almost been built over night.

STORK VISITS YATES HOME.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Val Yates at their home in Carroll avenue shortly before 8 o'clock on Thursday morning of this week and added sunshine to the already happy home when a son was born, weighing over 9 pounds. Both mother and child are doing well and the cashier of the Merchants Bank & Trust Company is justly proud of the acquisition to his family.

WHERE HOME AUTO TAGS SEEM FOREIGN.

ATTENTION has been called to the appearance of more Louisiana tagged autos than Mississippi ones on our coast roadway and intersecting highways. More crimson-colored plaques than the home ones of gold and black are in evidence, in fact, to the extent that the Mississippi license in comparison well nigh becomes seemingly foreign.

This is well. We welcome the red tags, even though they outnumber the gold and blacks. We are glad it is in that ratio. It proves the popularity of the Mississippi gulf coast with Louisiana motorists. New Orleans people make this coast strand their recreation resort. They motor to and fro by the thousands every week. Their occupants come to enjoy the beauty and health-giving properties of this section, bathing in waters of the briny deep, breezes that are wafted all summer from the waters afar. There is much to enjoy and much to see in this paradise-like section.

Our readers away who might peruse this, must not conclude this section is visited only by the good people of the crimson-colored tagged auto but by cars from all sections. Every state is represented, of course, in less proportion, but any day one may see a tagged car from any point, California to Maine, and from below the Canadian line down. Thus the popularity of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The man who escaped drowning during the summer has to be on guard against the hunter who sees the bushes move.

It will be a sad day for the United States of America when the public begins to look to the government for its foodstuffs.

DISTRICT-GOV. ADAM LORCH.

AN important and numerous-attended meeting of business men's club, Rotary, for Louisiana and Mississippi was held last week at Jackson, participated in by presidents and secretaries only, over which bodies as a whole District-Gov. Adam Lorch, of New Orleans, presided, and on which occasion Vicksburg was selected as the next place of meeting for the District Convention next spring, Baton Rouge holding the '32 meeting this past spring.

The meeting over which Governor Lorch presided was one of the best yet, there being much enthusiasm and spirit manifested throughout the two days' session, and the recently-elected district-governor is given the lion's share of credit for this splendid manifestation.

Business men like these do not recognize depression. They opine it would be fatal to business were they to abandon such civic and club spirit and could not afford for a moment to forfeit their privilege of participating in Rotary which fosters fellowship, better understanding and for world peace; getting better acquainted, fostering local objects of betterment for the community and proclaiming to the world business men of the community are organized and united.

Former Dist.-Governors Haas, White, Jensen, Dick Cox and others were among the prominent Rotarians in attendance. Gov. Lorch will soon pay his official visit to the local business men's club. It will be an occasion of importance and interest.

What has become of the old slogan, "keep the government out of business." Ask the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

SEYMOUR WEISS SHORT CUT.

THE Sea Coast Echo places in nomination the name of Seymour Weiss for the proposed short-cut route which will become an integral part of the Old Spanish Trail connecting Louisiana and Mississippi, or in other words, New Orleans with the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

"The Seymour Weiss Short-Cut," as proposed and which we understand will become a reality sooner than expected, if authoritative reports have been correctly hinted, will shorten the distance between New Orleans and the Coast by twenty-five miles, or fifty miles the round trip, a matter of no small consideration of time saved and of economic value.

Reports are to the effect that the short-cut is no longer a matter of conjecture, speculation or hope, but a near reality. Surveys of different kinds are complete and accepted and official decision reached. It may be any day, the report says, bids will be advertised for construction.

No better and fitting name could be bestowed, and none that would prove more popular than the nomination herein made for the reason that Seymour Weiss is one of the outstanding citizens of New Orleans and Louisiana as well; a man whose interest in behalf of "America's Most Interesting City" has contributed as a material factor as much if possibly more than anything else, and it is well to honor and pay tribute to men of merit and worth to the public while they live, and not when they have passed away.

Add hard times notes: Attendance at the first three days of the Olympic games at Los Angeles was greater than at the entire 1928 Olympic.

SOIL POSSIBILITIES FOR HANCOCK.

WITH virgin timber of Hancock county practically cut away for any appreciable commercial manufacture there remains for this county new soil products to replace in measure the wealth of vanished timber industry.

Various theories and suggestions have been advanced from time to time in the premises but nothing upon which any certainty hinged, and with the apparent hopeless situation staring in the face one could not but associate disappointment with the bleak and barren fields of illimitable acreage if cut-over lands in Michigan and adjoining States.

But Hancock county, in south Mississippi, where the rose blooms the year round and the mocking bird is never extinct, this section offers other possibilities. And the same may be said of other southern sections.

A new era appears to be dawning with the advent of the tung tree and the strawberry crop. These seem to be the hope and salvation of Hancock county. The day is not distant when thousands of acres hereabouts and in the interior will be planted with the famous Chinese tung tree, adaptable to this soil and productive of maximum fruitage.

Already the strawberry crop has been launched. Last season was the first. Probably in the experimental stage but of sufficient extent to show and prove conclusively that the luscious berry will not only bear to advantage, size and quality, but at least two weeks earlier, meteoric conditions, not to the contrary, than elsewhere.

With this in mind the Board of Supervisors of Hancock has wisely procured the professional services of one who will counsel and conduct, market and get the best prices. It looks with these two crops, the tung tree and berry plant, Hancock will soon take its place where it rightly belongs as an agricultural and productive section.

The tung tree for the staple crop and the berry for the "season crop" and for quick cash.

Management of large corporations is more important than stock ownership; that's the reason why some officials are paid big salaries.

Political jokes include the man who worries about a $1 poll tax and doesn't know that the U. S. government's deficit was nearly $3,000,000,000.

WELCOME TO PRESIDENT BROTHER WILLIAM.

BRO. WILLIAM, appointed president St. Stanislaus College, to succeed Bro. Peter, assumed his duties Friday, same day of announcement, and his distinguished predecessor, Bro. Peter, assigned to the presidency at Baton Rouge, left the same day to assume his new charge, followed by the good wishes of many friends of the community he had won and held the full six-year course of his term.

President Bro. William is no stranger here. He served the schools of the Order of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart in two separate terms as president, first at St. Aloysius at New Orleans and more recently at St. Joseph's Boarding School at Muskogee, Oklahoma, from which point he directly came.

A graduate of Loyola University and from experience and native ability he is unusually equipped to assume and discharge the executive duties of his new calling. Two years ago he was vice president St. Stanislaus College, for a while, serving from the time of his appointment to the time of the end of the scholastic session. Many pupils fondly remember him.

Bro. William was guest of honor of local business men at Bay St. Louis Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon this week. This was a manifestation of the welcome of the community and served as a means of our business people meeting the new S. S. C. president. Bro. William expressed himself with much satisfaction on the occasion of this meeting and welcome.

Mussolini's praise of war and denunciation of democracies is ridiculous when one considers what would have happened to his country during the last struggle if it hadn't been for democracies.

THE B. E. F. DISBANDS.

THE final breakup of the Bonus Expeditionary Force seems to be taking place at Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Eight thousand members the remnant of those driven out of Washington, have decided to go home.

The attempt of these veterans to coerce Congress and the Federal Government into paying the bonus in cash has failed but the spectacular method has not been without its tragic element. These unemployed veterans were only a small part of the millions in America who had no jobs and hardly knew how they could feed their families during these months of unemployment.

The veterans had, of course, the constitutional right to petition Congress. Where they made their mistake, however, and where they lost the sympathy of the great mass of public opinion, was when they adopted methods which were foreign to peaceful lobbying and approached the use of threats of possible disorder and rebellion in an effort to force the representatives of the people to take the political action which they desired.

No government can stand if it allows organized minorities to intimidate it by force and fear. In America today there is too much of this kind of pressure being used to influence legislation for the selfish benefit of special classes. The voters at large, for their own protection, will have to learn to punish the elected official who legislates or acts in the selfish interest of a small class as against the more general interest of the nation at large just because he is afraid of the political pressure which the small group can afford.

What this country needs is a few Democrats who will tell us confidentially, what is the matter with the Democrats, and a few Republicans who will tell us confidentially, what is the matter with the Republicans.

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

"ME UND GOTT"

FORMER Governor Theodore G. Bilbo's political organ, The Free Lance, will be revived, with the first issue coming out Thursday, he announced yesterday.

Stating that he personally will edit the paper a political organ first established ten years ago, he added that its editorial policy will be "to give every crook in the country hell."

His associate editor will be former State Senator H. L. Simmons, McComb, recently ousted as vice president of Mississippi State College for Women by the present administration's state board of control.

Asked who else would be with him, the "Stormy Petrel" replied, "Nobody else but the Lord."

The Free Lance's last period of existence was during the H. L. Whitfield administration. It was devoted principally to attacks upon the Whitfield administration.

The paper ceased publication after the primary of 1927, when Bilbo defeated Lieutenant-Governor Dennis Murphree.—Jackson Clarion-Ledger.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING COSTS.

THE United States Government maintains the greatest printing plant in the world. It prints reports and forms for the thousands of government agencies, including Congress itself.

The 1933 appropriation for Congressional printing is $2,250,000. Of this sum between $600,000 and $700,000 will be used to get out the Congressional Record. Out of this is paid the cost of "extension of remarks" which Congressmen insert in the Record, and often have reprinted to mail to constituents.

As an illustration of waste in congressional printing there is stored in the house folding room 1,000,000 pieces of surplus printed material originally ordered for congressmen to distribute to constituents. This includes 187,000 copies of eulogies of deceased members and 615,000 copies of the Agricultural Year Book.

The department of agriculture is laboriously publishing soil surveys of each county in the country. The law under which this is done requires that each senator shall have 500 copies and each congressman 2,000.

These reports, or soil surveys, cost about 60 cents a copy. One congressman complained that they are so scientific that he just stored them in his barn. Few farmers care for them.

Four-fifths of the farmers' bulletins by the department of agriculture are printed for circulation by congressmen. They are franked out to voters' mailing lists, often with the congressman's name stamped on them. They take the place of free garden seeds which congress was laughed into abolishing.

A few months ago Senator Pat Harrison amused the country by reading on the floor of the Senate a partial list of ridiculous publications which the government prints and which congressmen may mail postage free to constituents. "Making Sun Suits," "Raising Skunks" were some of the titles.

Published within the last two months for executive departments for public sale are such booklets or pamphlets as "Capons and Caponizing," "American and European Swords," "Specifications for Nail Pullers," "Phillippine Land Mollusks," and others. A congressman can obtain them free if one wants to know something of capons, swords or how to make nail pullers.

As campaigns come on, congressmen draw heavily on the free mail privileges which goes for anything they first have printed in the Congressional Record. Some members send out circulars showing publications which constituents may have free.

All of which costs a lot of money. Discontinued, it would be a striking illustration of how governmental costs can be reduced without harm to anyone.—Pascagoula Chronicle-Star.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

THE weekly community paper renders a service distinctive in character. In a single issue it is a marketing place, a social center and a news broadcast.

The average publication serves local business by bringing it in contact with a clientele with a buying power from one to five million dollars annually. It serves its readers by bringing them into contact with their marketing centers. It affords both the only common medium whereby those who sell and those who buy have an enlarged opportunity. It permits the smaller business to contact a larger field and the field to promote thrift by contact with every line.

Socially it serves to bring people into closer acquaintance and better understanding of common aims, purposes and accomplishments. It molds character in community life; develops confidence in local institutions and makes more effective the work of moral and educational agencies. It supplements the pulpit in character building and promotes the cause of the school.

It is news of the activities of people who know their town and know each other. The information it furnishes has human interest as its basis and better community life in its portrayal of common events. It limits scandal by dwarfing its significance. It emphasizes moral worth by recording and commending honest achievement.

VIVID COURTROOM DRAMA OPENS AT A. & G. THEATRE

Helen Twelvrees Heroine Of "Unashamed" Written By Bayard Veiller.

With one of the most sensational trial sequences in the history of talking pictures, and with a mystery injected into an ultra-modern romance of the youth of today, "Unashamed," Bayard Veiller's latest thriller, comes Sunday and Monday to the A. & G. Theatre.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is a dramatic story of today, in which its heroine, in her quest for thrills and romance, finds herself in the coils of a fate that forces on her the choice of her brother's life or the loss of her own reputation. One of the most elaborate courtroom sequences, played in an ultra-modernistic courtroom, is a vivid detail in the new story by the author of "Within The Law," "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and other stage thrillers.

Among the players are Helen Twelvrees, in the role of the indiscreet heroine; Robert Young, who last scored in "The Wet Parade"; Lewis Stone, Jean Hersholt, John Miljan, Monroe Owsley, Robert Warwick, Gertrude Michael and Wilfred North.

The picture's dramatic highlights include the thrilling murder sequence, the quest of the detectives, and the amazing confession of the girl on the witness stand when she bares her past to save her brother from the executioner.

Who Wants Jim Thames Defeated?

THE answer to that is easy. Look around you and see who are leading the opposition and who are scattering the scurrilous insinuations and ridiculous charges against Jim Thames. They are afraid to publish these charges, so they, with their huge slush fund, hire men to whisper them all over the district.

Jim Thames refused to support the "Highway Dictator Bill." Right then he incurred the wrath of designing contractors and material men, as well as unscrupulous politicians. Thames would have suited them, if they could have controlled him, but they could not do that.

One of the lies they are telling is that Jim Thames drew pay for Sundays. If any person can prove that Thames drew one dime for working on Sunday, he will withdraw from the race. The records are open. Prove your charge, or stop lying.

Not one charge of dishonesty or inefficiency has the opposition dared to publish against Jim Thames. During his long public service never one breath of suspicion against him.

Do you want that record continued? Then re-elect Jim Thames and be sure that Mississippi will not have scandals in the highway department, like Louisiana, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Jim Thames is serving a short term. He has helped save nearly a million dollars in road maintenance alone in the past 18 months. He is entitled to a full term.

JIM THAMES WILL BE ELECTED BECAUSE THE PEOPLE KNOW THAT HE WILL SERVE THEM, RATHER THAN SEEK TO ENRICH PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS WITH GRAFT.

LET'S KEEP MISSISSIPPI CLEAN—RE-ELECT JIM THAMES, AUGUST 23RD.

STRAY SCRAPS FROM STAGE AND SCREEN

By RAY, THE REELER
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

THE movie world is full of people who earn their living by ways that are as dark and devious as those of Diet Harte's Hatched Chinese. But it also has a goodly share of persons who make legitimate livelihoods in occupations that could thrive nowhere else.

For instance, take Gene Donovan, newspaper publisher. Donovan's paper is located in Culver City, Cal., and has the disadvantage of having to compete with a host of excellent newspapers in larger cities.

But Donovan has a moving picture sideline that has been a God-send. Whenever the movie studios want newspapers fitted to a particular situation in a picture, Donovan supplies them.

In his office there are authentic name plates from all the large newspapers of every city in the world. On a few hours notice, he can supply any metropolitan daily the studio requires with any sort of headline and any story that is needed.

For instance, suppose in a screen scene Clive Brook kills Kay Francis and one of the sequences is to show newboys yelling "Extra" on the streets with a headline screaming "Banker Kills Beauty in Love Nest." (This could not happen just now because Clive and Kay are working for different studios.) Suppose the story is laid in Boston.

All right, the studio telephones Donovan that it must have a thousand copies of a Boston newspaper with the headline and a complete story of the murder. The rest of the paper doesn't matter. All they want is that front page fixed to fit the action.

Donovan takes the nameplate of a Boston paper from his files and lays out a front page to suit them. The inside pages may all be headed "Culver City Citizen," which is Donovan's own publication, but all the camera will photograph is that outside page.

His presses start rolling off those exterior pages; the machines slip in the inside sheets to give the paper regulation newspaper thickness and in just a few hours the studio has its Boston newspaper ready for its part in the picture.

Greta Garbo has at last started back to Europe for that summer vacation in her native Sweden. But don't get excited. Everything is all set for the glamorous Greta to come back to us in the late fall and resume the swell movie work she has been doing recently.

Speaking of Garbo, have you seen her as the temperamental dancer in "Grand Hotel." This is one of the year's best pictures and Greta isn't the only one who is good. John and Lionel Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone—they are all great. Don't miss "Grand Hotel."

Our West is California's filmland—where men are not always apt to be gentlemen, women are not forever ladies, and over the twin shell cheat person stars seem to be having more than the average amount of domestic difficulty.

There is always a certain amount of divorce among theatrical folk, but usually the big stars manage to keep their matrimonial status intact. On late, however, some of Hollywood's most important names have been involved in divorce, separation or rumors of such.

First major marital split came some weeks back when Lowell Sherman was divorced by Helene Costello, sister of Dolores Costello (Mrs. John Barrymore) after a most sensational trial.

In striking contrast a few weeks later Ann Harding and Harry Banner quietly re-negotiated their marriage, issuing formal letters stating that Bannister's film career had been handicapped by their alliance because he had come to be known as "Mr. Ann Harding."

Then came the divorce deluge. Ruth Chatterton fell in love with her new leading man, George Brent, and sent hubby Ralph Forbes scurrying to Reno to file papers. (There's an interesting story about Miss Chatterton that I may tell in the columns of this paper before long.) Ruth is in Europe and will remain there until Ralph gets the decree. Then she will hasten home and wedding bells will ring for Mr. Brent.

Next to part were that frozen-faced comedian, Buster Keaton, and his charming wife, Natalie Talmadge, sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge. Natalie said Buster was as crazy at home as he is on the screen and that she could stand him no longer. The inevitable straw that broke the camel's back was his habit of getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning to take an airplane ride.

In considering the Talmadge family, we must not overlook Norma. For several years it has been reported that Norma will divorce Joseph Schenck, head of United Artists Corporation and marry George Jessel, vaudeville star.

Now comes the rift between Maurice and Yvonne Chevalier. By the time you read this, the Chevaliers may have patched up their troubles, but that seems scarcely likely. Yvonne snubbed Maurice last week when Mistinguett, noted Parisian dancer, tried to arrange a reconciliation in Paris.

And back in Hollywood Marlene Dietrich is reported to be taking no little interest in the Chevalier troubles. Marlene should be careful. She has already been the cause of a break-up in the family of her famous director, Josef Von Sternberg.

There have been rumors that Clark Gable and his wife have agreed to disagree, but the Gables deny this emphatically. However, Mrs. Gable has practically withdrawn her handsome husband from circulation as a precaution. Once seen at all of Hollywood's festivities, Clark now spends most of his evening quietly at home under the watchful eye of the missus.

And so it goes. Who'll be the next?

The moral of all this divorce business seems to be—Don't let any kind of success go to your head. The trouble with stage and screen folks is that they live for adulation. They get praise from the public constantly and they can't understand why they can't also get it at home. But Clark Gable probably doesn't look so romantic with latter on his face. And I don't very much that Maurice Chevalier would cause palpitation of

ODDS AND ENDS—Titles of movies made by the Four Marx Brothers never have anything to do with the picture itself. For instance, the production they are making now is called "Horse Feathers." It has a donkey but no horse, and there isn't a feather in sight. . . . This is the dull season in Hollywood and most of the stars have gone to Europe for summer vacations. . . . Joan Crawford comes to have her friends forget that she was a working girl back in the days before she got to be a "Moom pitcher star." . . . Jean Hersholt has a habit of rumpling his hair when excited. . . . Believe it or not! The first acting experience Bela Lugosi, star of "Dracula" ever had was as Romeo and Juliet. . . . Had a chat with Johnny Weissmuller, the swimming champion and star of "Tarzan," "The Ape Man." I like the movies fine," said the human fish, "but I sure do wish I could be eligible to swim in the Olympics this year." . . . You see, Weissmuller has turned professional and only amateurs can take part in Olympic events. Johnny is to make a sequel to "Tarzan" shortly. . . . Also had a talk with Conchita Montenegro, the fiery Spanish Star. Conchita denies she's thinking of matrimony and says she wants to play a really dramatic role in her next movie. . . . Joan Bonnell still belongs to the Girl Scouts. She has a medal for proficiency in life saving. . . . Robert Montgomery's first name isn't Robert at all. It's Henry. He won his first stage part in a role named Robert, and the monicker stuck. . . . Jackie Coogan is a big boy now, 17 years old, and will enter Santa Clara University as a Freshman this fall. . . . Thomas Meighan is to do a screen comeback ere long. . . . Ruth Chatterton's father picked a short first name for her so she would never have a nickname. Before she was three years old, all the kids in her neighborhood called Ruth "Mike."

Guess who's gonna be in Marlene Dietrich's new picture, "Blonde Venus"? None other than young Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, son of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the noted opera singer. . . . Ray Francis was born on Friday the 13th. . . . Charlie Chaplin is writing his life story in a book to be published serially in the Woman's Home Companion. . . . Play Eleven Inning Affair—Telhiard Does Good Work On Mound—To Play Ocean Springs Next

By Cedric Heitzmann

The Bay St. Louis Panthers played by D. B. "Pike" Telhiard played a 11 inning affair to beat the Gulfport Tarpons on St. Stanislaus stadium by the score of 3 to 2. Telhiard on the mound for the Panthers was located for 8 hits and struck out 8 men, while his opponent a local boy, Thomas (Lefty) Egloff was located for 10 hits and struck out 7 men. Telhiard has strengthened his team by adding Red Levens and Maryvin Lacy. Levens playing his first game with the Panthers located Egloff for 1 single in 5 trips to the plate.

J. V. (Ham) Bontemps playing 1st base for the Panthers turned in a fine game and making some fine catches and sensational stops. The winning run was scored in the last of the 11th when Jimmy Collier doubled into left field and came home on Pike's single to right field.

Next Sunday the Bay Panthers journey to Ocean Springs to play the Ocean Springs Cubs. Pike Telhiard expects to send Cotton or Jim Collier on the mound and shifting B. Strong who turned in a fast game at short stop against Gulfport back to his old position, center field.

MEDDLING WITH THE CONSTITUTION.

ONE of the amendments to be voted on by Mississippians at the general election in November is that known as the Poll Tax Amendment, and would so change the constitution of the state that the payment of poll tax only would be required to make citizens eligible to vote. Other taxes need not be paid by any certain date, if at all, for the preservation of the franchise.

Some of the leading thinkers of the state have branded this as a dangerous amendment, and one which should be defeated. One of the provisions of the amendment states that . . . who had paid, on or before the first day of February of the year in which he shall offer to vote, in which he shall offer to vote, all poll taxes which may have been previously required of him." Under this provision the poll tax shall have been duly assessed for each of the two preceding years. Many negroes are never assessed poll tax. Under the law they would be qualified electors. Many are over 60 years of age and therefore not subject to poll tax. They would also automatically become legally qualified to vote. The adoption of this amendment would be an open invitation to every negro to register and vote, and white politicians are none too good to press upon them this invitation.

With the present lax method of tax collections, this amendment will remove the incentive of public-spirited citizens to pay their taxes promptly in order to preserve their franchise, and will materially cripple the state's finances, making it very uncertain when tax money will be available.

Meddling with the constitution is setting a dangerous precedent, and especially when this meddling endangers the white supremacy of the state.—Brookhaven Leader.

COMMENT ON SPORTS BY SHERIDAN

Records Broken Many Attend Olympics U. S. Takes Lead Borotra Comes Back Grove Vs. Gomez Putting Paavo Out For Longer Fights.

With an avalanche of record-breaking performances, the Tenth Olympiad has gotten underway at Los Angeles, with an attendance that has already surpassed the total for the games at Amsterdam in 1928.

At the end of the third day, 275,000 spectators had been drawn into the stadium, which was about 40,000 more than the number to see the entire program of events four years ago.

From the first three days competition it was plain that an unprecedented number of records would be established. Fourteen new Olympic marks were set in different events in track and field and six world records were hurled into the discard. Some of the athletes declare that the credit, so far as the running events are concerned, may lay in the speed of the track, which is boosted by the Olympic stars as the fastest and easiest to run on in the world.

Among the bright individual stars must be included Eddie Tolan, the spectacular negro, who won the 100-meter dash and the 200-meter run for the United States, and Miss Mildred Babe Didrickson, who won the javelin throw and the 80-meter hurdles for this country.

In point tabulations, it seems certain that the United States will win the unofficial championship by a tremendous lead. In the track and field events, both the men and women's teams were far ahead of their nearest competitors.

France retained the Davis Cup thanks to Jean Borotra, who came from his voluntary retirement to defeat Allison and Vines in his singles contest. The bounding Basque was easily the French hero while Cochet, the hitherto invincible, dropped the final set to Vines. However, by that time the cup was safe for France.

Allison, after losing to Borotra on the opening day, played a magnificent doubles game to aid his partner, Johnnie Doubles, to defeat the veteran Frenchmen, Cochet and Jacques Brugnon. On the third day of play, Allison, like Vines, bowed to Borotra.

The French spectators, reported to have been warmly pro-German in the semi-finals, gave Vines a great demonstration as he took the measure of Cochet and defeated the great Frenchman for his first loss in six years of Davis Cup play. There was also much criticism of several decisions, apparently favoring Borotra, in his match with Allison, who several times had the opportunity to win the game and set points.

The most flagrant decision in the match was one that occurred when Allison needed to win the point to win the match. Borotra serving after one fault, served again. As one French newspaper said, "it groans came from the spectators for it fell several inches beyond the line. Allison thought that it was a double fault and hit the ball out, thinking he had won the match. However, to everybody's astonishment, the linesmen kept silent and the umpire had no option but to call the score deuce. Several French writers, notably Mile. Suzanne Lenglen, said the decision undoubtedly favored Borotra. The Basque, who frankly admitted that certain other decisions against Allison were incorrect, said the disputed serve looked like it had "nicked the line."

Max Baer is slated to meet Ernie Schaaf on August 29th, in New York and if successful may get a shot at Max Schmeling in the fall.

The decision over the relative worth of Vernon Gomez, great left-hander of the Yankees, and Robert Moses Grove of the Athletics, continues apace. Grove, off to a poor start, lost three of his first four games this season and then got away with a streak of victories, halted by injury for several weeks, he came back and practically repeated his early season showing, lost several games. However, he seems to be back in form again.

Grove's record during the past years places him definitely on top of the portside hurlers and Gomez will have to repeat his 1932 record for a flock of Leftys. Incidentally, in 23 runs scored off Gomez in his first 27 games.

The disqualification of Paavo Nurmi on charges of professionalism by the Executive Council of the I. A. A. F. may be defended but as far as we are concerned, the action of its president, J. S. Eydstrom, of Sweden, who rearranged the Federation's agenda in order to prevent reconsideration of the decision until after the track and field championships were completed, does not seem to have been exactly right. There should be no "steam roller" proceedings and if the great Finn runner has any chance to clear himself, the sporting public would have liked for him to have had the occasion prior to the running of his events.

Nurmi is easily the greatest distance runner of his time, was favored to win the marathon and his appearance was keenly anticipated by visitors. That the Finnish runner evidently thought he would be reinstated is evidenced by his training for months and his appearance at Los Angeles.

A suggestion that the championship fights should be longer certainly meets with our hearty approval. Fights to the finish may not be necessary but, certainly, recent decisions, like the Sharkey-Schmeling fiasco, incline one to believe that fighters should be allowed to battle a little longer in order to make more definite the superiority of the winner. Usually 20 or 25 rounds ought to be enough to do this. Dempsey's two fights with Tunney would have established a vast superiority for Gene if they had gone 25 rounds. The same is true of the Schmeling-Sharkey and Schmeling-Stribling fights and many others.

PICAYUNE TO PLANT DOUBLE ACREAGE OF STRAWBERRIES 1932-1933

Two Hundred Acres Plants, Sufficient to Plant One Thousand Acres in Berries, Being Cultivated—Berry Plants Reported in Excellent Condition.

From all indications the strawberry acreage in the Picayune territory this year will be more than doubled as compared with last season, says the Picayune Item.

During the past week L. N. Formby, field agent for the Picayune Agricultural Extension Commission, and R. O. Lawhon, agricultural agent, Southern Railway, visited several communities in Pearl River and Hancock counties and found growers busy working out plants and preparing new land. Approximately 20 acres of plants are being grown—sufficient to set out over one thousand acres.

George E. Murrell, horticulturist Southern Railway, made an inspection of the plant fields during the week and stated they were in splendid condition. With a favorable growing season there will be enough plants grown here to supply everyone intending to plant berries.

Growers are advised that in order to make high yields, strawberries should be planted in soil containing plenty of humus. The best and cheapest way to supply this humus is to grow and turn under a crop of peas. This practice is being followed by a large number of growers and there is still time to plant a crop of peas for this purpose. No fertilizer will take the place of humus or decayed vegetable matter. Experienced growers know this and it is the reason they stress the importance of growing and turning under some green crop before setting out the berry plants.

E. E. Read, secretary-treasurer for Pearl River Growers, advises that he has already been approached by several large marketing agencies relative to handling next season's berry crop. In order to negotiate with the firms it is absolutely necessary that the growers list the acreage they intend to plant. Marketing arrangements must be made several months in advance of the selling season and it is important that the intended acreage be listed as soon as possible.

City of Gulfport Trims Expenses To Savings of $25,000

Further retrenchment in the operation of the Gulfport city government was announced by the Gulfport city commissioners this week following a cut of 10 per cent in the wages of employees.

A cut was made last October ranged from 5 to 25 per cent. The latest cut applies to all city employees except members of the fire department, whose wages were reduced 13 per cent. City Commissioners last October voluntarily reduced their salaries 20 per cent.

With a $15,000 reduction in the school budget announced Friday, it was estimated by officials that operating costs of city government this year will be reduced $25,000.

HERE'S THE WHOLE WORKS.

Here's the story that one runs across occasionally. It always brings a smile, for most of us have in mind such a character as figures in the story. Although old, the story is worth repeating:

It concerns an Omaha jobbing house and a customer merchant in a small Iowa town. A shipment of goods received by the customer was rejected as unsatisfactory.

The jobber prepared to institute suit for collection, and wrote to the railroad agent at the village for information about the arrival of the merchandise; to the president of the bank for information concerning the financial standing of their customer; to the mayor of the city asking him to recommend a good lawyer to handle their cause; and to the merchant himself, threatening suit, if he did not make payment at once. All the desired information came in a single letter, as follows:

"I received your letter telling me I had better pay up."

"I am railroad agent here and received the letter you wrote the agent."

"I am president and sole owner of the local bank and can assure you of my financial standing."

"As the mayor of the city. I hesitate to refer you to a lawyer, since I am the only member of the bar in this vicinity."

"If I were not the pastor of the church here, I would tell you to go to hell."

BUSINESS IMPROVING, SAYS CROSBY.

That business is definitely on the up-and-up and will continue to improve slowly but surely, is the opinion of L. O. Crosby, Picayune, well known lumberman of South Mississippi.

One year ago Mr. Crosby predicted that the business depression had not reached bottom, but would get worse until mid-summer of this year when it would gradually improve. His predictions, which have come to gain the respect of the state's business leaders, are that business has reached rock bottom and that by September a definite change can be seen.

Last March Mr. Crosby is said to have had 104,000,000 feet of lumber on his yards, and his mills were closed down. Two of his mills will be reopened within the next few weeks he said, and his men, the majority of whom he has helped through the period with truck growing on his land, will be re-employed at the mills.

THE WEST.

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

How speak about the West—the glowing, golden West? How describe this land of great open spaces—lofty mountain heights; clear, blue skies and invigorating air, of breezes kissed by the cold mists, as wind spirit winds and roars down the gorges, through mighty rocky caverns?

How illustrate this vast playground of Nature, this vista of freedom life and joy? How speak of this great amphitheatre in the very heart, in the sacred temple of Nature, which has existed in its solemn grandeur from all Time, since God created life and He sent it echoing down the ages?

What a picture of inspiration, what a panorama of majestic beauty, indescribable, wonderful, heartgripping, bewildering the sense as in some fairy dream.

Who can explain the tang all around you, the clean, fresh ozone of the air, the feeling of freedom, life and joy?

Who can depict the everchanging tints of Nature across sky, mount and forest, whose colors no artist could produce?

Here a strange lure completely captures you, which seems to bid you linger here forever in these enchanted scenes.

What solemn voice is that which appeals to you, whispering from every rock and tree, weaving a spell of glamor about the mountain heights, veiled in curtains of purple or pink, while misty clouds hang around them?

It claims you as in a spell from which there is no escape and which completely mystifies you and captivates you, binding you fast to these glorious scenes. Your pulses beat faster, your heart thrills and your mind loses itself in holy, thought, traveling upward to the Eternal Author of Life, the Creator and Great Artist of all this beauty. Follow some trail—climb some dizzy height and there, gaze thousands of feet below, until drunk with delight; you drink in every phase and every line of the fantastic scenery, around, above, below.

Ford the cold stream, wander in the balmy, dew-kissed forest, virgin and bewildering in its pristine freshness and beauty.

Can any sensation parallel this eternal and never failing ecstasy?

Ascend Pike's Peaks or the Royal Gorge with its highest suspension bridge in the world; ride through the Garden of the Gods, with its fantastic wonders wrought in rock and stone; gaze on the snow-imprinted cross of Holy Cross Mountain, or greet the Snow Angel hovering in benediction over the world at its feet.

Yes, gaze on these and hundreds of others equally as marvelous and lovely, then you will wonder and stand amazed at God's gifts to the West.

Think of the gold and silver and precious metals running in serpentine veins through the mountain rocks; think of all the forgotten trails of the thrilling adventures of the discoverers, settlers and pathfinders, who lived and died here, facing storm and cold and every danger, but making history or leaving wondrous legends in song and story.

Read of the past glory of the Indians, then you may well marvel at this romantic land, still little known and giving a golden dream to America.

Come to the West to love, to live and think. Come here to dream, to plan and hope; come to commune with God. Remain here and be happy forever, or come and go away bringing back a treasure house of deathless, inspiring memories.

Senator Pat Harrison Home and Will Confer With Party Leaders

Senator Pat Harrison arrived on the Coast a few days since and went to his home on the beach, near Gulfport. He announced that he would spend the present week at Jackson to confer with Democratic leaders relative to plans for the presidential campaign in Mississippi.

REDUCED 30 POUNDS NEVER FELT BETTER

SAFE WAY TO LOSE FAT

Take the case of Miss Madeline Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter:

"I have used Kruschen Salts for one year—when I started I weighed 140 pounds—now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

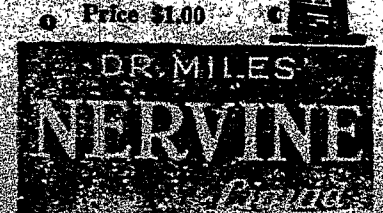

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight—as the fat goes you gain in health—skin gleams—eyes grow bright—activity replaces indolence. Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar of Kruschen that costs but a trifle lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drugstore in the world—but for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts.

WHEN you start at sudden noises, worry over trifles, can't bear the noise that children make, feel irritable and blue—ten to one it's your nerves.

Don't wait until your overwrought nerves have kept you awake half the night and paved the way for another miserable day. Take two teaspoonfuls of Dr. Miles' Nervine and enjoy the relief that follows. Take two more before you go to bed. Sleep—and wake up ready for the day's duties or pleasures.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is now made in two forms—Liquid and Effervescent Tablet. Both are the same therapeutically. Liquid or Effervescent Tablets at all drug stores.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

The money spent for sugar in canning season is well spent. There are many delightful ways to use these sweets next winter.

Peach Butter

Peel peaches, halve, and remove pits. Put at once in preserving kettle containing enough water to cover bottom. Do not let stand after peeling as they darken quickly. Cover tightly and cook barely long enough to soften. Put through fruit sieve. Measure the peach pulp allowing half as much sugar. Cook slowly stirring often, using a low fire to prevent scorching. A piece of cheese cloth is tied loosely about stick of cinnamon and ginger and whole cloves. Remove as soon as butter is sufficiently spiced. Take out a little peach butter and cool in a saucer, when it seems right to spread on bread it is finished. Pour hot into hot sterilized jars on which the rubbers have been adjusted. Fill completely, put on boiled lids, seal tightly and invert.

Ginger Watermelon Rind

Slaked lime, ½ lemon, 1½ pounds sugar 1 pint ginger tea. To each pound of rind cut into squares, add 2 quarts of water and 1 ounce of slaked lime. Let stand in limewater overnight. Drain, let stand 2 hours in fresh cold water. Drain well and boil rapidly in strong ginger tea (1 ounce of ginger to 1 quart of water, for 15 minutes. Drain and put into a syrup made by using 1 pint of strained ginger tea with 1 quart of water and 1½ pounds of sugar. Cook until tender and transparent. After boiling ½ hour add sliced lemon. Place in shallow pans to cool having the rind well covered with syrup. When cool, pack cap, clamp and process 10 minutes.

Fig Preserves.

Measure to each pound of figs 3-4 pound of sugar. Let stand several hours in sugar before cooking. Cook slowly until figs are transparent. Take out of syrup fill jars. Allow syrup to boil to proper thickness. Pour over figs and seal. Should you like lemon, slice one in the syrup while boiling.

Austrian Peas and Hairy Vetch Best Winter Legumes For Soil Improvements

R. H. BRYSON,
(County Agent)

All kinds of legume crops are valuable for soil improvement, but those of the winter growing group are probably double the value of others, because they occupy the soil at a time when leaching of plant food is at its greatest due to heavy rains.

Practically all soils of South Mississippi are deficient in nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. When these three elements are supplied and the soil properly prepared, splendid crop yields are obtained in many cases, while in others, losses occur. Humus (decayed vegetable matter), is the deciding factor in majority of cases. Humus, not only provides a favorable substance for the bacterial life which is so essential in the making of food for plant life, but is an absorbent of moisture from spring rains to supply crop requirements during dry periods, and also prevents soil erosion and leaching of plant food.

Austrian Peas and Hairy Vetch, under average weather conditions, if planted on well prepared ground by October 1st, with an application of 200 pounds acid phosphate per acre, will produce a green-weight growth of 4 to 12 tons per acre by April 10th, and when plowed under, will have a fertilizing value of 400 to 1000 pounds of commercial fertilizer.

That inherent disposition of some few farmers to depend upon the soil to take care of itself without plowing under legume crops for humus matter, is very much like the man who writes checks against his Bank account without making deposits. In a short time he is notified that his account is overdrawn. This message comes to us from the human side of this transaction when dealing with Bank, but unfortunately, or maybe, fortunately, Mother Nature does not use the spoken words in telling us of the needs of growing legume crops and plowing under for the land's sake in order to maintain its productivity, or I fear some of us who have been expecting large crop yields year after year, would cringe with shame, if she should speak-up in public and tell us our soil account had been overdrawn.

Commercial fertilizers applied to soils well supplied with humus have a greater production value, and result in larger crop yields at less cost per unit.

Anyone interested in maintaining or increasing the productivity of their soil will find it to their advantage to investigate the fertilizing value of these winter growing legumes for soil improvement. But, remember, poor land, like poor animals, cannot be put into the prime of condition with one feed. Some of the lands have been robbed of their

THAT "FREE" FLOUR.

FREQUENTLY you hear someone remark about the free flour which is being distributed in Bogalusa as well as in most cities throughout the Nation. This flour is anything but "free" flour, and every sack that is given away in Bogalusa likely costs the citizens of this parish two or three times as much as it could be obtained for at any of the local stores. The wheat, which was purchased with your money by the Farm Board, was bought at $1 or more per bushel. Today the same wheat can be purchased for about 65 cents a bushel. Then, too, do not overlook the fact that one member of the Farm Board draws a salary of $25,000 a year, and there are many high salaried people employed by the Farm Board, all of which comes out of your pocket and the pockets of citizens throughout the United States. This just adds another example of the fact that the government cannot succeed in private business. —Bogalusa, La., August 10, 1932.

SPIRIT OF THE WEST.

My spirit broods o'er mountains high,
As free as any bird;
My voice pierces unto the sky,
And o'er the world is heard.

My face is set towards the West,
Piercing beyond the veil;
Riches are locked within my breast,
Issuing a wondrous tale.

Within my arms I hold a lure,
Of beauty, love and fame;
My deeds written in letters pure,
A magic in my name.

Brave men have climbed my dizzy height,
Seeking their golden dreams;
I paint the earth in colors bright,
By mountains, woods and streams.

O! come ye weary unto me,
Tasting of Joy, my slave;
O hasten where the world free,
Thy heart carved in my nave.

My temple sings eternal praise,
To God Who gave me life;
No man my favor e'er betrays,
At peace—no care or strife.

OPENING OF KILN SCHOOL

Monday Exceeds Enrollment Of Former Years—Supt. S. J. Ingram Delivers Address

Prof. S. J. Ingram of Bay St. Louis, Miss., was principal speaker at opening of Kiln Vocational High School Monday, August 8, at 9 o'clock. His subject was "carry on." He gave a very practical talk about the cooperation and work required by the members of the community and teaching force in order to have a successful school term during these trying times. He especially stressed the importance of parents sending their children regularly. He told of how teachers in Mississippi were carrying on in face of the severest hardships they have ever faced in modern times.

He stressed the increased needs for preparedness on the part of young men and women in order to meet the competition for their services they will experience in the near future in everyday life.

After Mr. Ingram finished his speech, County Supt. A. S. McQueen endorsed his speech in full, added some very helpful remarks and made announcements affecting the school for the coming year. The enrollment of Kiln school is more than ever before in recent years. The Agricultural department announced an enrollment of thirty-four, far in excess of what has ever been.

The school work was then entered into in regular form with everyone getting down to earnest work.

Superintendent E. E. Lumpkin looks forward to the most successful term of school in its history.

WOMAN WHO HAD DEVOTED HER LIFE TO OTHERS PASSES ON

Remains of Mrs. Fannie Tomasich Laid to Rest Tuesday Afternoon—Native, Aged 77.

Mrs. Fannie Tomasich native of Bay St. Louis aged 77 years, passed away at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Boy Perre, Main Street, 2:10 o'clock, Monday afternoon following an illness of some time, due to her advanced age.

The remains were taken to the Fahey Funeral Home, Union street, from which place the funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Rev. Father Quinn, of the church of Our Lady of the Gulf, officiating both at the funeral home and Cedar Rest cemetery, the latter place where the remains were tenderly laid away and the new grave covered with many beautiful flowers that had come as tributes of love and sympathy from friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Tomasich, nee Perre, had lived a long and useful life. In early life she married Anthony Tomasich. To this union two children were born, who passed away in their infancy. However, Mr. Tomasich had a large family and these Mrs. Tomasich devoted her time and care to their proper rearing, dedicating the better years of her life to this beautiful cause and devotion. Among them were the late Mrs. Hypolite A. Perre, the late A. G. Tomasich; Mrs. Fraunlich of New Orleans; and Jules Tomasich for many years a resident of Pascagoula, Miss.

The deceased was also a sister of the late H. A. Perre, and of Boy Perre, Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Elise Grandmont of New Orleans.

She had been a devout member of the Catholic faith all her life, of the true and consistent type, and passed away in the full favor of her church, spiritually consoled by the sacraments prior to her passing away.

Potentially a home woman, she had devoted her life to those who surrounded her, and was ever solicitous to their happiness and well-being. Having lived a long and useful life, of exemplary selfishness, she has gone to her reward and her spirit taken its place in the realms of that happiness to which only the just and dutiful are entitled.
